

So you think you know The Joint Chiropractic?

MYTH

MYTH: The Joint does not perform patient examinations.

MYTH: Chiropractors at The Joint are overworked.

MYTH: The Joint provides low-quality chiropractic care.

MYTH: Chiropractors who work at The Joint are not financially successful.

FACT

FACT: Doctors at The Joint are required to document patient visits (just like every other chiropractor), including new patient exams.

FACT: We offer flexible schedules. Most doctors work four to five days per week, or supplement their schedules with part-time or coverage opportunities.

FACT: Doctors at The Joint are educated at the same institutions as other chiropractors. The Joint also provides additional training on adjustment techniques to ensure that patients receive quality adjustments.

FACT: We offer competitive benefits and compensation for chiropractors who work at The Joint.

This opportunity is right for you if...

- You want financial security with competitive base pay
- You'd like to supplement your income with extra shifts
- You need a work schedule that fits your lifestyle – full-time, part-time, weekend, or relief
- Patient care is more interesting to you than paperwork
- You want to become part of the nation's largest employer of chiropractors
